The Track (Ben Hood Thrillers Book 27)

Synopsis

Ben Hood is hired to find those responsible for the attempted murder of a mentally retarded youth in the Daintree jungle of Far North Queensland. The boy saw something on a track that he was never supposed to see. The assignment brings Ben into contact with dangerous wild creatures, most of which are human. Beautiful women with various motives vie for his attention. Ben is well aware that attempting to solve the mystery of the incident on the track is likely to be impossible and probably (for him) even fatal.

Customer Reviews

Another great Ben Hood read. Spoiler alert. This one starts with Ben at home. He's contemplating his years as a police detective and missing some parts of that life. He's also thinking about the four years he's put in at VIP protection agency. Four tough but well paid years. Four years where he met many interesting people and many beautiful and exciting women. Ben is quite wealthy and doesn't have to work but can't contemplate life without a job. Two thousand kilometers away in Far North Queensland, Isabelle Cheng gripped the hand of her nineteen year old son Shane. A Shane who had been beaten and left for dead. Isabelle knows things are going on in the area but she wants whoever attacked her son to pay. She calls VIP protection to have an agent sent to Far North Queensland to find out who attacked and damned near killed her son. A son the doctors don't think will survive his injuries. Robert Cheng in Far North Queensland is having a conversation with Jill, a hooker her hired. The conversation is about the attack on Shane Cheng, his son. The boy is still alive when Jill had been hired to kill him. Cheng is not happy. The death of Shane Cheng needs to go forward. Rod Reid, head of VIP Protection, is asking Ben Hood to come to his house. Rose has baked scones and Rod has an assignment for Ben. A Ben who doesn't want an assignment. A Ben who's taking some time off. Rod gets him to come and is using Rose and Rae, his adopted daughter as the lure. Ben does show up. Once there Rod gives him the low down. Its about a dying kid in the hospital. A young man who was beaten very badly in Far North Queensland at Cape Tribulation.
